Excerpt: . . . power, to say, If any thing too hard for the Lord and to receive his promises in faith, resting upon his power, believing that he who has promised is able also to perform--and upon his wisdom regulating, and controlling, and subordinating all things to his own glory and the eternal good of his people. These practical lessons have been already inculcated. But we have also spoken of his condescension to us worms of the earth; and shall we, by neglect and indifference, do all in our power to frustrate his purposes of wisdom and of mercy Will you not suffer God to raise you Will you hold with so much firmness of grasp your degrading condition and your earthly attachments as to rest satisfied, and resist the mercy of God! Oh, let him raise you out of the dust of your humble condition, and...
