 Summary: "A first-rate thriller."--Huntington News "
 [Katzenbach's] novels are reliably smart and intriguing, featuring characters who are off-kilter in various ways . . . presented in a cinematic narrative that yanks the reader in from the first page. . . . This is indeed an edge-of-your-seat thriller, in many ways one of Katzenbach's best works to date."--Bookreporter "In the familiar cautionary tale about the little girl and the big bad wolf, the child wears a red hood. In Katzenbach's skillful contemporary version, red hair attracts the predator, who targets not one but three vulnerable females. . . . This is a page-turner from the get-go and must reading for thriller fans."-- Booklist (starred review)
 "Katzenbach creates a convincing triad of sympathetic women who grow through their harrowing trials."-- Publishers Weekly
 "No one portrays the mind of a sociopathic killer better than John Katzenbach, who is in superb form with this psychological thriller, a vivid cat-and-mice game in which the mice strive to outwit and outplay the cat."--William Bayer, Edgar Award-winning author of Peregrine and Switch "[Red 1-2-3] gives us a long look into..."
